Jess,

The following FAQ text was pulled together for users who were coming into the FAQ system with questions about the spill.

Can this continue to be used or would it need to be removed?

It is currently at:

Good afternoon,

As you probably know, we have an active response going on now in R6, R8, and R9. I know a lot of people are looking for information and we all want to be helpful.

Please hold on posting any social media related to this incident. We are in the process of working on messages that will be posted to the main Facebook and Twitter accounts. Once the posts are up on the main accounts, they can be retweeted or shared without adding any share or quote text.

Thanks! Jess
